

PUBLISHERS' OILER No. 7

Proves to be One of the Largest Oil Wells in the Kansas Field.

Publishers' Company Have Struck One of the Biggest Oil Wells in Kansas---Stock Sure to Go to One Dollar Per Share.

Twenty Thousand Shares of the Treasury Stock Now Placed on the Market at Twenty (20) Cents Per Share, easy worth forty cents per share right now, but will be sold at this price to the first parties who remit for same, or come here to investigate---Money to be invested in crowding development.

Will you grasp an opportunity while it knocks at your door? If so, wire the Secretary of the Publishers' Co. to hold you One Thousand Shares at Two Hundred (200) Dollars.

Few people realize the possibilities of one thousand shares of Publishers' stock. The Company has one thousand and forty acres of oil land; they have just drilled their seventh big oiler. They have one tract of four hundred acres of oil land that has cost twenty-five ($25,000) thousand dollars, together with their other land, and the big strike made this week makes their holdings worth a quarter of a million dollars on a conservative basis. They have room on land absolutely surrounded by oil wells for three hundred oilers. They have a possible production of four thousand barrels of oil per day. When the field is developed one thousand shares will bring you three barrels per day.

GUSHER OIL IN A HEAVY COLUMN FORTY-EIGHT FEET HIGH

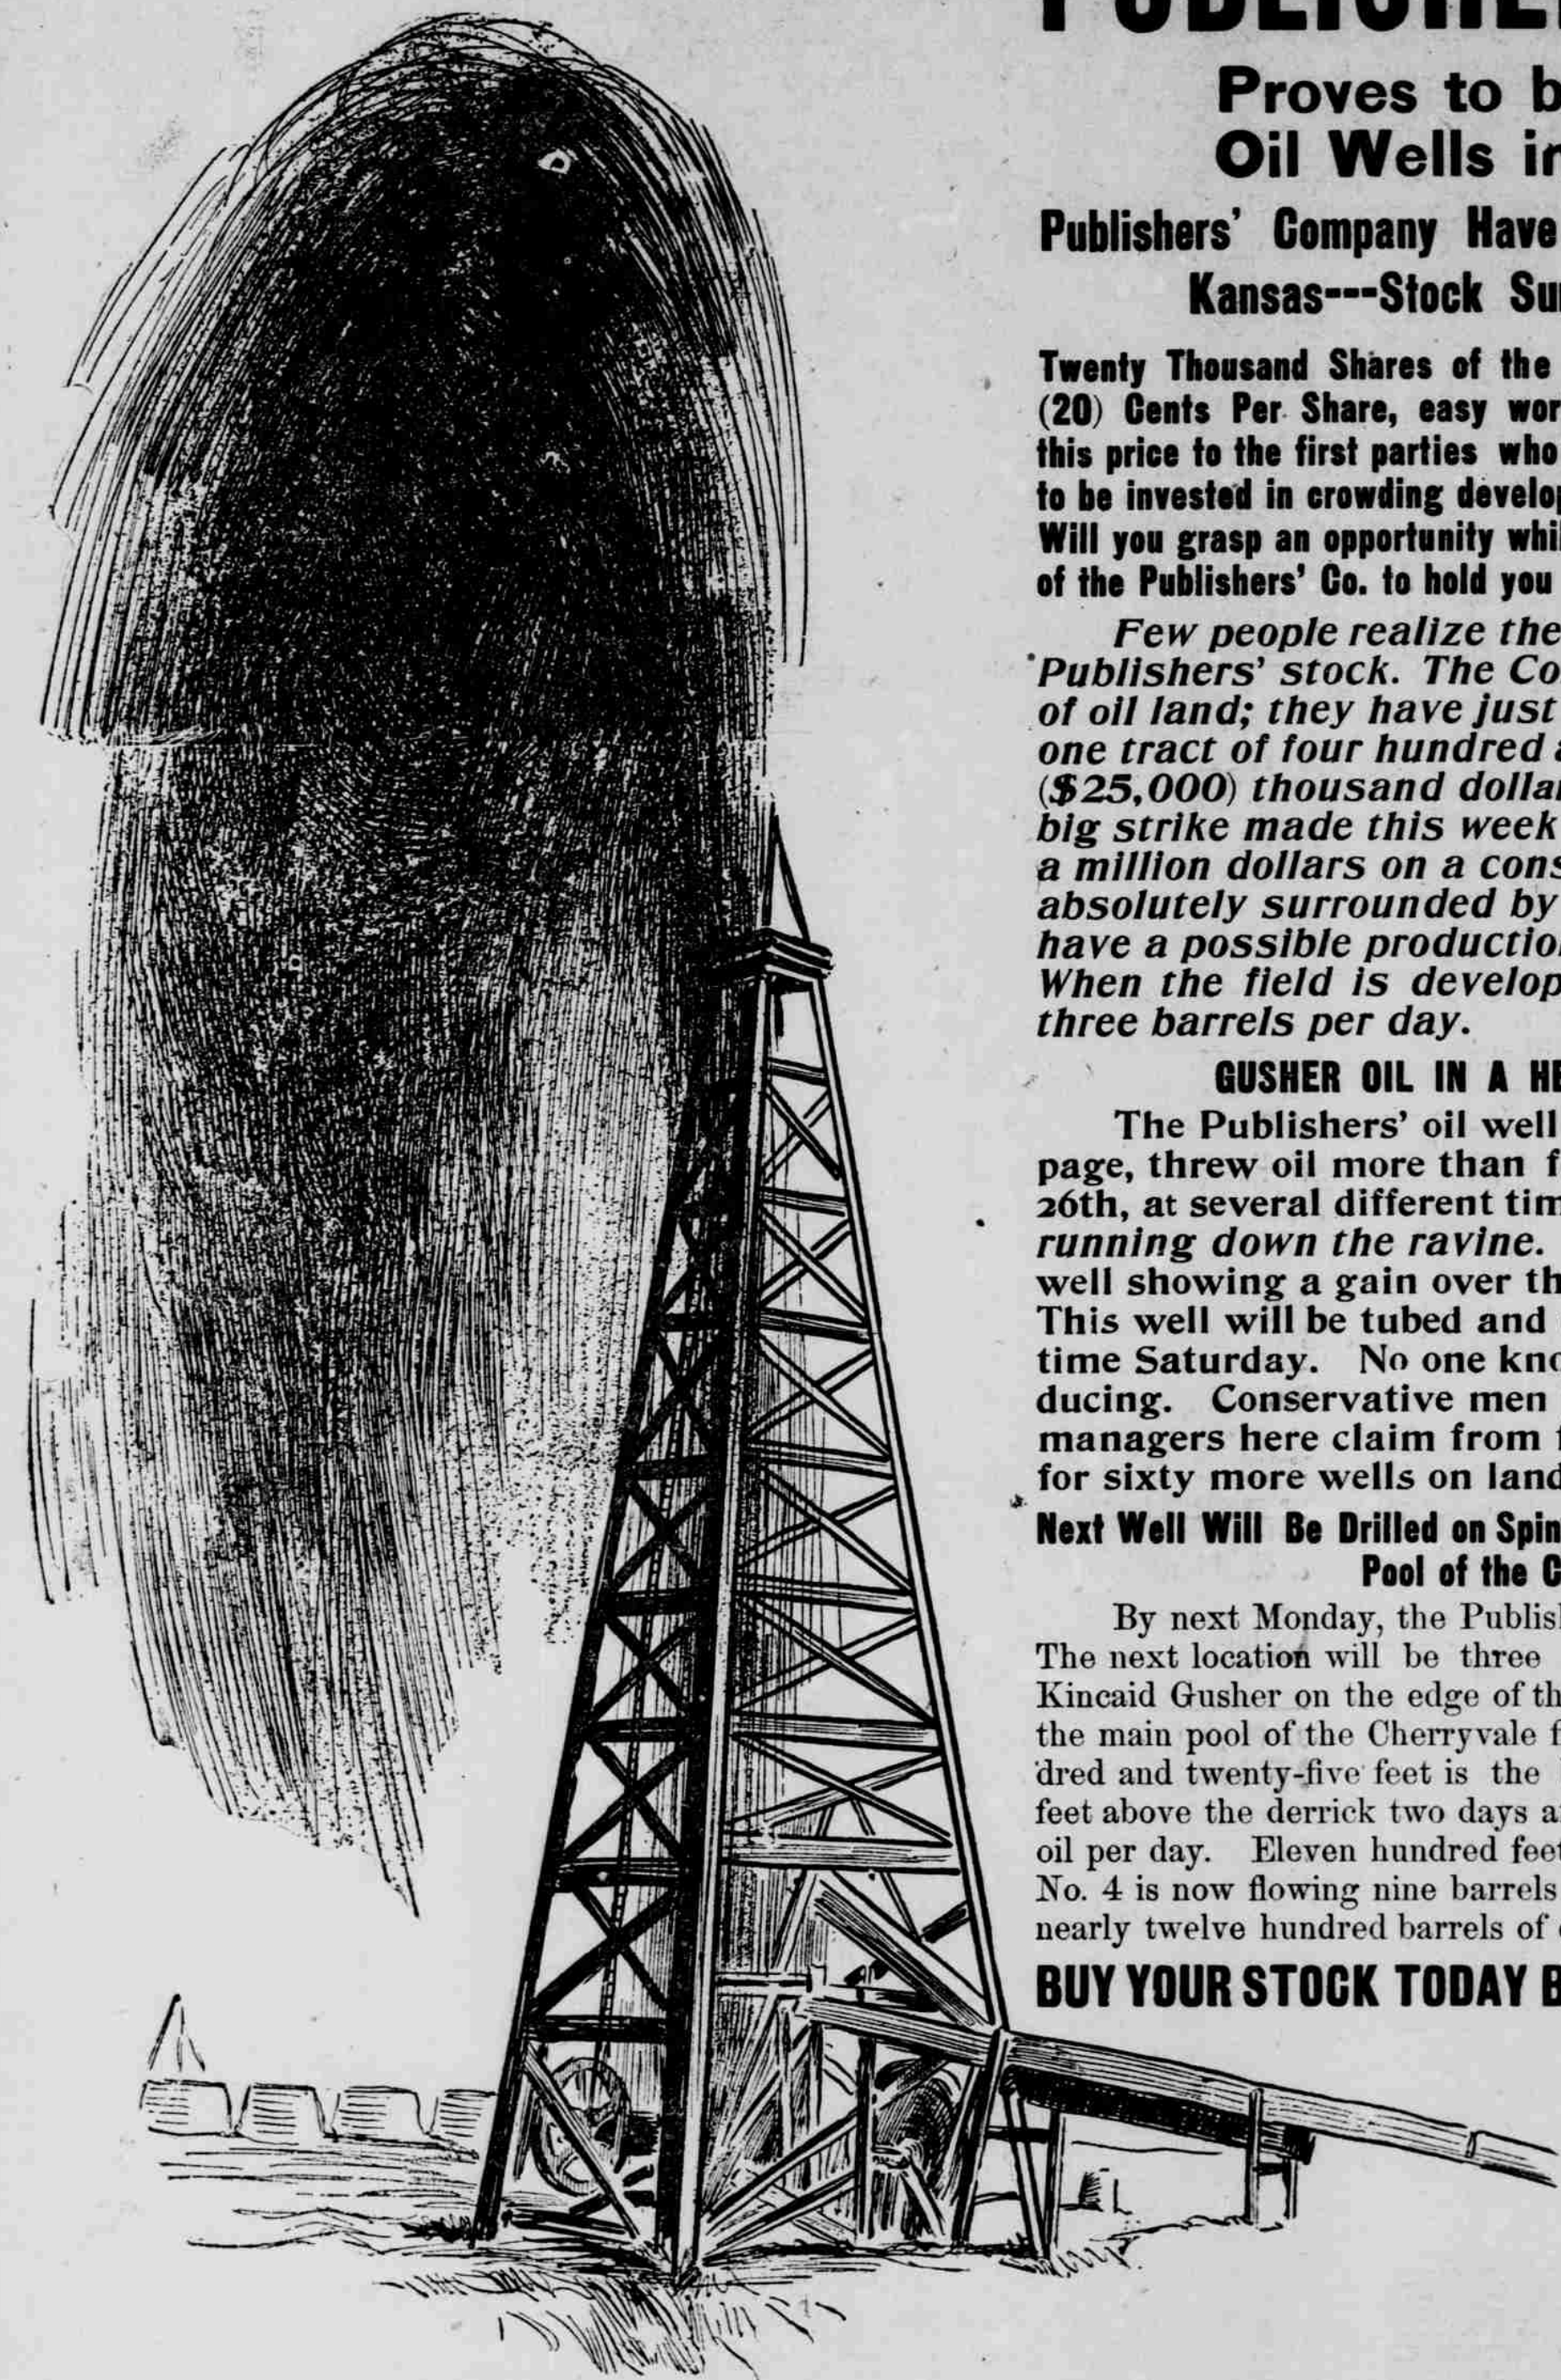

The Publishers' oil well No. 7, a picture of which appears on this page, threw oil more than forty-eight feet high Friday morning, May 26th, at several different times. The oil is running out of the well and running down the ravine. There are eighty-six feet of oil sand in this well showing a gain over the Farrington Gusher of five and a half feet. This well will be tubed and under control either Friday night or sometime Saturday. No one knows the amount of oil it is capable of producing. Conservative men place it at a one hundred barrel well. The managers here claim from forty to fifty. The Publishers' Co. have room for sixty more wells on land safer than this location.

Next Well Will Be Drilled on Spindle Top-Barker Knoll, Where Oil Men Believe the Main Pool of the Cherryvale Field Will Be Secured.

By next Monday, the Publishers' drillers will be plugging away for another oiler. The next location will be three hundred and sixty feet due east of the Publishers' Kincaid Gusher on the edge of the Spindle Top-Barker knoll where oil men believe the main pool of the Cherryvale field will be secured. North of this location two hundred and twenty-five feet is the big Denver-International well which gushed oil fifty feet above the derrick two days after it was shot, and is now making sixty barrels of oil per day. Eleven hundred feet south of this location, the Publishers'-Barker well No. 4 is now flowing nine barrels of oil per day, and has made since last November nearly twelve hundred barrels of oil.

BUY YOUR STOCK TODAY BEFORE ANOTHER GUSHER ADVANCES STOCK TO A HALF DOLLAR PER SHARE

The Publishers' Co. has one hundred and fifteen thousand shares of treasury stock still in the treasury. Twenty thousand shares of this stock will be sold at twenty (20c) cents per share. The balance of the stock will be sold in from fifteen to twenty thousand share lots, as the Company drills in additional wells. The next twenty thousand shares will be sold at twenty-five cents. The stock is just as sure to go to one dollar per share as daylight follows darkness. This Company, without a doubt, is the strongest and most promising oil company in the Kansas oil field. There is every indication that they have the main pool of the Cherryvale field right on their land. No man can tell what a few days will develop when the drill is running night and day in territory with gushers on one side, oil wells on the other three and gushers on their lands with seven hundred and twenty acres yet to drill on.

This is a picture of Publishers' oiler No. 7, drilled in May 25. The well is in the corner of the Kincaid land, two hundred and sixteen feet south of the famous Farrington Gusher. It is a Kansas big oiler, with eighty-six feet of oil sand, deepest oil sand ever secured in the state. The company will drill oiler No. 8 three hundred and sixty feet east of this well on the Barker Spindle Top Mound. Buy your stock today before another gusher doubles up the price. Publishers' stock will continue to advance until it passes the one-dollar mark.

Come to Cherryvale and Investigate for Yourself

You can reach Cherryvale from any point in Kansas, Missouri or Oklahoma in from three to seven hours. It is only one hour's ride from Cherryvale out to the Publishers' Oil field. If you have from one hundred to one thousand dollars to invest, wire the secretary how much stock you desire held, and take the first train for Cherryvale. The Publishers' Co. have the goods in sight, and are ready and willing to show their property. To make a long story short, you cannot beat this investment anywhere in the state; twenty men taking one thousand shares each will secure all this stock. You will see it bringing one-half dollar per share in less than sixty days. The company is on a solid basis, regularly chartered, and managed by men who generally finish what they start. They will be paying dividends in less than sixty days.

The stock will soon be sold. There are two different men who are figuring now on ten thousand shares each. A proposition of merit will not last forever. The company treats the small and large investor with the same consideration. We will sell you one hundred shares for twenty dollars, or five hundred shares for a hundred dollars, or one thousand shares for two hundred dollars, or ten thousand shares for two thousand dollars. Buy some of this stock; get it now. Use the wires if you know a good thing when you read about it. The stock will soon be sold. When this is gone the balance will bring from twenty-five cents to a half dollar.
